

Happy Valentines Day

*from the Baldock Car Boot Sale
(The Cut-Price Cupid!)*

I saw a beauty at the boot sale
My legs went weak at the knee
She turned and she spoke, it was no joke
"You can have it for fifty-five pee!"

I took my girl to the boot sale
We walked around hand in hand
A burger for me, she just had tea
I guess you could say life was grand

I took my fiancé to the boot sale
Once we'd crawled out of bed
I bought her some flowers (romantic powers!)
Couldn't wait until we were wed

I took my new bride to the boot sale
Couldn't believe that she was all mine
I bought her a hat and I promised a cat
Our lives, like the morning, was fine

I argued with my wife at the boot sale
Went around in opposite ways
I bought some car parts, she had some tarts
Next time we will go different days

My wife took her lawyer to the boot sale
To spy on her husband - 'the louse'
I kissed a Greek, just a peck on the cheek
Now she's after my balls and the house

I took my dog to the boot sale
Bumped into my ex by the loos
She looked just great, I looked a state
In love, I'd not won, so I lose!

Copyright - Baldock Bard/U-Boot February 2012

Baldock Boot Sale returns to the A507 Buntingford Road on the first Saturday after Easter (14th April 2012).

E-mail: baldockbard@u-boot.co.uk
www.u-boot.co.uk